

Where have US Presidents spent Christmas?

2008 – Camp David
 2007 – Camp David
 2006 – Camp David
 2005 – Camp David
 2004 – Camp David
 2003 – Camp David
 2002 – Camp David
 2001 – Camp David

2000 – White House
 1999 – White House
 1998 – White House
 1997 – Sarajevo
 1996 – White House
 1995 – White House
 1994 – White House
 1993 – Hilton Head, SC

1992 – Camp David
 1991 – Camp David
 1990 – Camp David
 1989 – Camp David

1988 – White House
 1987 – White House
 1986 – White House
 1985 – White House
 1984 – White House
 1983 – White House
 1982 – White House
 1981 – White House

2009 – Hawaii, spending $12,000/day on a beach “favored by Hawaiian royalty”.

2010 - Hawaii, spending an additional $63,000 for Michelle Antoinette Obama and daughters (and dog!) to fly on a separate flight to the islands, at taxpayer expense.

Class vs. Crass

Camp David is only 56 miles from the White House

Both George H.W. Bush and his son George W. spent Christmas at Camp David with all of their children and extended family, for a total of 12 Christmases at Camp David during the combined three Bush presidential terms. The Bushes did this so White House staff could be with their families at Christmas...since all live in and around DC.

Hawaii is more than 4,700 miles from the White House

The Obamas demand taxpayers foot the bill for a massive decampment to the Hawaiian islands for Christmas, which tears thousands of White House staff and Secret Service agents, as well as reporters, away from their DC-area families. Taxpayers foot the bill to house, feed, and transport most of these people so far from home at Christmas.